DR. BOOTON ACTED IN SELF-DEFENSE

Grand Jury Refused to Indict Him for Killing William Jordan.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LURAY, VA., August 9.—The grand jury of Rappahannock county yesterday refused to bring in an indictment against Dr. T. L. Booton, of that county, who on July 4th, shot and killed William Jordan on the main street of Falmouth. The testimony of eye-witnesses to the affair was to the effect that it was a clear case of self-defense and to this was added a strong sentiment in Booton's favor. The tragedy was the outcome of an old grudge between Booton and Jordan. Booton had the management of the farm of Mrs. Millan, of that county, who was sister of Jordan. In the capacity of Booton, who on the day of the affair demanded that Booton release his management. This Booton refused to do until so ordered by Mrs. Millan, and so informed Jordan.

The attack on Booton, which ended in his death. After being shot by Booton, Jordan knocked the former down. Since the shooting Dr. Booton has been out on $500 bail.

MAYOR COULDN'T FIND A WILLING SPONSOR

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., August 9.—Secretary Morton has received a letter from the Mayor of Dubuque, Iowa, saying that although he has made diligent inquiry he has been unable to find a woman who will undertake the journey to New York to christen the gunboat Dubuque, which is to be launched at Morris Heights, N. Y., within a few weeks.

The Mayor expresses regret at this condition of affairs, and explains that it is in the hands of the women of Dubuque attending the St. Louis Exposition. Under the circumstances, he deems it best to leave the selection of a sponsor entirely in the hands of the Navy Department.

The matter has been reported to the contractors, the Gas Engine and Power Company, and it is not apprehended that any difficulty will be found in securing the services of some one residing near New York city willing to act as sponsor of the new warship.

GIVE IT A CHANCE SAYS JOHNSON

Joseph Johnson, the president of the Subway Tavern Company, said last night that on account of the many persons who had been attracted to the Subway Tavern, he was not sure that the place was not now what they will be when affairs have assumed their normal condition, and he was not sure that the Subway Tavern was not now what they will be when affairs have assumed their normal condition, and he was not sure that the Subway Tavern was not now what they will be when affairs have assumed their normal condition.

"We are doing all we can to enforce the law, and when the Subway Tavern has ceased to be the place we will be able to carry out effectively the plans we had in mind when the tavern was opened," New York Herald.

A CONFEDERATE BATTLE FLAG

The Long Lost Colors of the Sixteenth North Carolina Found in Texas.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ASHEVILLE, N. C., August 9.—Information, which reached here from Texas, indicates that the old battleflag of the Sixteenth North Carolina Regiment, which disappeared after the surrender at Appomattox, and for which diligent search has been made for a number of years past, has at last been located at Sherman, Texas, and will in all probability soon be restored to survivors of the famous regiment.

This historic battle flag was made by Miss Minnie Ream, of Richmond, Va., and was said to have cost not less than $50, being made of finest silk, with silver stars, fringe and tassels. It was saved from surrender at Appomattox by being concealed in the lining of the pocket worn by the color-bearer of the regiment. The following communication from Sherman, Texas, tells the story:

"The battleflag of the Sixteenth North Carolina Regiment, C. S. A., for which inquiry has been made, is in possession of a Braxton county veteran, Emanuel Rudasill, the old color-bearer of that regiment, who resides just a few miles west of Sherman. For the past thirty years or more this battle-ent and time-stained ensign, has been treasured as a historic relic and the story of how it was brought from Appomattox, by color-sergeant Rudasill, sewn into the lining of his ragged and tattered old gray blouse has been told and retold to many thousands who have been permitted to view the famous flag or reverently touch its folds. A lady, who was the maker of the flag—Miss Minnie Ream, of Richmond, Va.—is well known to County Surveyor Sam Bonham. Mr. Rudasill was not seen in the city to-day, but information has been carried to him of the intense desire of the survivors in North Carolina of the old Sixteenth Regiment—his old comrades—to again see the historic ensign which they followed for so many years, again in their midst, and it is expected that he will gratify their desire by taking the treasured relic in person to the reunion soon to take place at Asheville."

FILIPINOS AT CAPITAL

Moro and Igorrote Chiefs Received Yesterday by President Roosevelt.

VISITORS MUCH PLEASSED

Nodded and Smiled When President's Kind Words Were Interpreted.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., August 9.—Picturesquely, but quite adequately, garbed, a party of eight Moro and Igorrote chiefs, constituting a part of the Philippine exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition, to-day paid their respects to President Roosevelt at the White House.

The exchanges between the chiefs and the President were informal, but happy in their tone. Through Antero, a bright fifteen-year-old Igorrote boy, who acted as interpreter, the Moro dates and the Igorrote chiefs expressed their pleasure at being received by the President, and told him he might depend upon their loyalty to the American government. President Roosevelt, after shaking hands with each one of his little brown visitors, replied that he was glad of the opportunity to greet them, to welcome them to the national capital and to assure them that the American government desired to promote their welfare, prosperity and contentment. As the President's kindly expressions were interpreted to them by Antero, the dates and chiefs nodded their heads in approval and smiled their thanks.

Cabinet Officers Presented.

The reception took place in the President's private office and adjoining the Cabinet room. While it was in progress, the members of the Cabinet arrived to attend the regular semi-weekly meeting. Each, in turn was presented to the Filipinos, who paid them the highest respect known to their people.

Before the conclusion of the reception, the chiefs, through Antero, presented to the President some handsome native gifts, including a curiously carved magic pipe, a beautifully embellished spear, and two shields, one of closely woven native grass and the other of wood covered with hide. After they left the Executive offices, the Filipinos were shown through the lower departments of the White House.

The Moros were garbed in native costume of brilliantly colored Japanese silk blouse and tightly fitting trousers, all elaborately figured, and wore turbans of the same material, twisted loosely about their heads. The Igorrotes wore complete suits of spotless white duck, relieved by oriental scarfs of brilliant color.

The visitors were taken to the War Department and driven in carriages to all the public buildings.

UNITED STATES LEADS IN PRODUCTION OF BEER

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 9.—"Germany yields the first place in beer production to the United States," declares Frank Mason, consul-general at Berlin. In a report to the Department of Commerce and Labor.

He shows from the annual report of the German Brewers' Association that their production last year was less than that of the American brewers.

The falling off is accounted for variously—cold weather, spread of temperance principles, practice of economy by the middle classes, and the abolition in

THE DESIGNER

"A Magazine of Real Use to Woman" September Number—Out To-day!

I THINK The Designer is a little different in its aim, and very different in its accomplishing, from any other of America's magazines. It, first of all, presents practical, tasteful fashions that are not too difficult for reproduction by the average woman, and supplements this by as many articles as possible each month on subjects of especial interest to those who have adopted the needle for occupation of spare moments, or as a means of support—hence dressmaking, millinery, trimmings, accessories to the toilette, embroidery and fancy work of all kinds are given prominent position in The Designer pages.

After them in importance rank the three departments edited by our readers themselves: "What Women are Doing," which encourages those who have to make their own way in the world, by presenting incidents showing how others have successfully overcome obstacles as formidable as any that lie in their path; "Helps Along the Way," and "The Mothers' Club."

I believe that every shareholder in a business is far more concerned for its welfare than are outsiders, and for this reason I have closely allied many of our readers and subscribers by making them co-editors of these departments, which gives the more or less isolated woman in the country a chance to run in figuratively speaking) to her neighbor's for a little friendly talk on the easiest way to accomplish the household tasks, or to manage the babies, or as to opportunities for earning a few dollars in pleasant ways.

There are many other regular departments, of course, and fiction and articles of general interest; but the magazine itself can best describe itself. I think I can add truthfully that The Designer is a cheerful, practical magazine which earnestly tries to help those who want to help themselves.
